

Dewey To Welcome Support Of Every American Citizen

Republican Nominee Says Platform Represents His Views

Chicago, June 29—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey told what he called the "world's biggest press conference" today that he hopes to confer with all of the nation's Republican leaders including Wendell L. Willkie, on presidential campaign plans.

Declining to discuss cabinet possibilities—if he wins the White House—the smiling GOP nominee gave speedy endorsement to many planks of the party's platform, including those on foreign policy, the president's Fair Employment Practices Committee, foreign trade and others.

Wearing a light grey suit, Dewey appeared fresh and rested at his press conference, despite the physical strain of shaking thousands of hands at a public reception lasting past midnight last night.

Dewey was asked specifically if he "welcomes the editorial support of the Chicago Tribune," which once criticized his views on foreign policy. There was a laugh from the reporters.

Smilingly, Dewey replied: "I don't know that I have the editorial support of the Tribune. I shall welcome the support of every good American in the whole United States."

Dewey sits on table. The nominee sat on a table and puffed a cigarette in his hand, much after the Franklin D. Roosevelt fashion, while the reporters asked their questions.

One query was how he planned to reach the service men with campaign appeals. Dewey replied that had not yet been determined.

"You don't have an airplane all righted out, do you?" one of the newsmen asked, obviously alluding to the outfitting of a plane which President Roosevelt might use, although the White House said it was not done for that purpose.

"No," Dewey grinned, "but I came out here yesterday in a very good one."

Once during the conference, Dewey halted the proceedings to admonish politely a photographer who had snapped a shot after the other picture-takers had agreed not to make any more shots.

"Gentlemen, the picture taking is over," Dewey said looking toward a photographer in the gallery. "It will be unfair for you to have any more pictures, when all of the rest of them have agreed not to take any more."

Platform His Views. Dewey covered a wide range of issues in answer to questions. He said he had read the Republican platform only once—while he was enroute here by plane—and that "it represents my views."

Referring to Dewey's promise to gather young men around him a reporter asked if that meant he would discharge Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

"You are asking me to pass on the mental vigor of Mr. Hull," Dewey replied. "I will not do that. I am not engaging in cabinet-picking at this time."

Throughout the conference Dewey repeatedly called reporters by their first names. It was "Yes, Jim" and "What did you say, Charlie?" to those he did not know. He often said "Just a minute this gentleman asked a question."

The nominee expressed satisfaction with the foreign trade plank of the party platform. While stating that some persons thought it might have been better, Dewey said it should be recognized that the platform was drawn by persons with conflicting opinions, and that as a result there had to be compromise.

"Unblessed Convention." "This was really an unblessed convention," he declared. "The delegates were free to reach their own decisions."

Parts of the foreign trade plank may appear at a first blush to be inconsistent, he said, recalling that the plank promised an "adequate protective tariff" on competitive products desired to assure American standards.

"The essence of the plank is to be found in the latter part," Dewey said. "The party promises that this nation will work with other nations to promote greater trade. This is not inconsistent with the tariff part of the plank."

Questioned closely about his views on post war foreign policy, Dewey said he did not believe that the United States should surrender its "sovereign right to make

Highlights in Dewey's Address

Chicago, June 29—(AP)—Highlights of the acceptance speech by Republican presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey.

I come to this task a free man. I have made no pledges, promises or commitments, expressed or implied to any man or woman.

This election will bring an end to one-man government in America.

The military conduct of this war is outside this campaign. It is and must remain completely out of politics. If there is civilian interference (with the military) the new administration will put a stop to it forthwith.

The present national administration in its young days did some good things. But now it has grown old in office. It has become tired and quarrelsome.

We have had men in Washington who were notoriously weak in certain branches of arithmetic but who specialized in division.

We shall have to work and pray and be patient and make sacrifices to achieve a really lasting peace. It is no task to be entrusted to stubborn men, grown old and tired and quarrelsome in office. We learned that in 1919.

It is the new deal which tells us that America has lost its capacity to grow. We shall never build a better world by listening to those counsels of defeat.

I have not sought this responsibility with the help of God. I shall try to be worthy of the trust.

Nazis Hint Poison Gas Attacks Soon

Madrid, June 29—(AP)—The latest German propaganda for distribution in neutral countries hints obliquely that the nazis may resort to the use of poison gas to combat the allied invasion of France.

Pamphlets have been received here bearing the title "Against Invasion by North American Devils" and pointing out that heathens can be combated by "chemical means."

"If beetles attempt to raze your fields, you would never hesitate to begin a war of arsenic and sulphuric gases," said the pamphlet. "Rather, that millions and millions of North American beetles should die by asphyxiation than a single European potato be lost."

Eisenhower Extends Order on Fishing

New York, June 29—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today issued new instructions to European fishermen extending the ban on fishing for another week, but "this time over a shorter length of the coastline."

A spokesman for Eisenhower broadcast that the supreme commander's requirement now is that no fishing be carried on in the coastal waters from the French port of Bayonne near the Spanish frontier to the west Frisian islands until July 6, 1944 at 9 p. m.

The broadcast heard by CBS warned that fishing might become extremely dangerous at any time.

Allied Fifth Army is Now Within 25 Miles of Livorno

Great Red Offensive Fans Out Northeast of Minsk Today

Rome, June 29—(AP)—Along a highway littered with enemy dead and abandoned equipment, American troops of the Fifth Army punched toward another five miles along Italy's west coast yesterday and captured the town of Castagneto, only 25 miles from Livorno (Leghorn), while a second American column rather inland pierced through German lines to within a dozen miles of Siena, allied headquarters said today.

Livorno is an important port 11 miles below Pisa, while Siena is a key rail and communications center 31 miles south of Florence.

An official spokesman declared the enemy "is showing signs of confusion" in the coastal sector, where the incessant battering by American guns caused heavy casualties and the roundup of prisoners from decimated German units progressed steadily.

It was announced that the Fifth Army alone has taken over 25,000 prisoners since the offensive began seven weeks ago today.

The total bag of prisoners for the offensive exceeds 32,000.

Eighth Army Gains

The Eighth Army reported limited gains in heavy fighting in the areas of Lake Trasimeno and north of Perugia. Eleven guns were destroyed and 200 enemy troops were wiped out in mopping up Casella, six miles northwest of Perugia. West of Lake Trasimeno the villages of Frattavocchie and LaFoce were occupied.

To illustrate the frame of mind of the bewildered Germans being beaten steadily back in Italy, an official spokesman cited this portion of a letter taken from a captured Nazi trooper on the Fifth Army front:

"For us this is no war anymore. It's a cat and mouse game. Their Assassination of Henriot Unsolved

Madrid, June 29—(AP)—The assassination at Paris of Philippe Henriot, Vichy minister of propaganda, has inspired a new wave of desertions by Vichy provincial officials and stirred new terror among those unable to leave, border reports and diplomatic dispatches from France said today.

The militia leader at Mont-de-Marsan, the capital of the Landes department, was reported to have been shot by the Germans when he was captured while trying to desert across the Pyrenees.

London, June 29—(AP)—The Vichy radio acknowledged today that investigators had run up against a blank wall in attempts to find the slayers of Philippe Henriot, Vichy minister of propaganda who was assassinated Tuesday night in Paris by 15 or 20 armed men.

The broadcast said the assassins had escaped by automobile without leaving a clue to their identity.

Some Lamb Cuts, Soft Cheese Again Subject to Ration

Washington, June 29—(AP)—Housewives will have to take their ration books to market again in buying choice lamb cuts and soft cheese, and the butcher will take one to two more points a pound for beef steaks and roasts.

The Office of Price Administration, announcing point values for the period from next Sunday through July 29, said today it was necessary to put choice lamb cuts, chops, steaks and roasts back under rationing because national distribution has not been equitable. Values assigned range from three points a pound for some chuck roasts to 10 points for lamb chops.

The supply of beef steaks and roasts will be smaller by 12 percent in July, OPA explained in making the point values to a record high, a porterhouse steak, for example, will cost 11 points a pound, up two, while a seven-inch cut standing rib roast goes from eight to 10 points a pound.

To Even Distribution

"By increasing the points on some beef steaks and roasts and establishing point values on preferred lamb cuts, we hope to even out distribution so that more people in more communities will get a share, limited though it may be, of the beef and lamb available."

OPA Administrator Chester Bowles explained He added that in some localities it may be "days or even weeks" before the supply improves.

The decision to put points back on lamb was made, OPA said, when three out of four of the agency's 94 district offices reported that choice cuts were short of demand.

Because return of popular lamb cuts to the chart is counterbalanced by a smaller supply of beef, housewives will continue to get only 30 points a month for buying.

Emphasis Shifts to Citizens in Drive

Washington, June 29—(AP)—With sales to corporations and other non-banking investors shooting upward, emphasis shifted today to sales to individuals in the $16,000,000,000 Fifth War Loan Drive.

Sales Tuesday totaled $3,369,000,000, the highest ever reported for one day in any of the war loan drives. This increased total sales since the campaign opened June 12 to $9,371,000,000, 59 percent of the quota. The current drive ends July 8.

Sales to corporations and other non-banking investors now total $7,051,000,000, 71 percent of the quota for these investors, but sales to individuals have reached only 39 percent of this quota, with $2,323,000,000 subscribed so far.

Chicago, June 29—(AP)—Fifth War Loan overall bond sales in Illinois at the close of business Tuesday totaled $12,100,000, or 29.9 per cent of the quota.

Sales to individuals reached $123,600,000 or 30.5 per cent of the quota, the state war finance committee announced. Purchases by corporations and large individual investors were $718,800,000 or 15.1 per cent of the quota.

Germans Send Strength of Two Armies Into Battle for Caen

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, June 29—(AP)—Increasingly heavy fighting raged at La Bude, 21 miles north of Caen's city limits in Normandy today, supreme headquarters announced, and reconnaissance reports indicated the German high command was bungling.

Casualties

Washington, June 29—(AP)—American casualties in the war, including the first two weeks of battle in Normandy, total 211,158. Of these 55,206 are dead—35,101 soldiers and 20,102 Navy, Marines and Coast Guard personnel.

Secretary of War Simon reported today that through June 13 American Army casualties were 179,923 of which 32,022 were killed, 37,068 missing and 36,157 prisoners. These figures, he explained, did not include casualties in France because completion of casualties from individual names transmitted from the field to the war department lagged behind actual events.

To be added to them, however, was the report of supreme allied headquarters that during the first two weeks of fighting in France American casualties totaled 21,162, with 3,082 killed, 13,121 wounded and 7,959 missing.

The latest Navy casualty list totals 17,073, including 20,102 dead, 13,202 wounded, 9,308 missing and 1,161 prisoners.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British infantry and armor widened their bridgehead across the Orne river and seized important high ground overlooking the battle area around Esquay, four to six miles southwest of Caen, in an encircling maneuver. The Germans were reported already to have thrown most of their 15th and 17th armies into the struggle centering around the eastern end of the allied battleline.

A typical Montgomery barrage from hundreds of guns coupled with allied aerial sweeps smashed at German reserves trying to reach the battle zone. British heavy bombers overnight struck at Metz, a choke point for German

Edwards J. Hughes, Illinois Secretary of State, Summoned

New York, June 29—(AP)—Edward J. Hughes, 55, Illinois secretary of state for 12 years and the only Democrat currently holding state office, died suddenly here yesterday of a heart attack.

Hughes, a party leader for 25 years, had been suffering from a heart illness for several months. He died in his rooms in the Waldorf-Astoria towers. He had been in the east three weeks, coming here for a rest. His body was being sent to Chicago.

In Chicago the secretary's brother, William, said the body would arrive tomorrow morning and that funeral services would be held Monday morning at the Hansen chapel, 2316 W. Madison street, with burial in Calvary cemetery, Evanston. The hour and other details await the arrival of the widow, also tomorrow.

Col. Matt Winn, the nation's veteran horse racing official who shared a suite with Hughes, said he noticed "something wrong" as the state official sat in a chair. He felt Hughes' pulse and called a physician, but the secretary already had succumbed.

Under Illinois statutes, Gov. Dwight H. Green will appoint a successor to fill the unexpired term of the secretary of state.

When Hughes' name was prominently mentioned last winter as possible Democratic candidate for governor, he announced he would not seek elective office again because of ill health.

Elected Three Times

Hughes served three consecutive terms as secretary of state. He first was elected in 1932 and was the only Democratic candidate for state office to survive the 1910 state Republican victory. For many years he was considered the leading vote-getter in Illinois. Previous to his election as secretary of state he served four terms in the Illinois senate representing a Chicago west side district.

He was born in Chicago, July 26, 1888, and studied law but later became an engineer. His political

GROP Workers to Be Given Holiday

Men and women of the Green River Ordnance plant will be on holiday from midnight July 1 until 12 02 a. m. Wednesday, July 5, it was stated by General Manager William Steinwedell today.

In announcing the three-day shutdown Mr. Steinwedell stated that an upsurge in production quotas, followed the long-awaited invasion now under way in Europe, has necessitated additional maintenance work at the plant. This will be done during the holiday.

"We believe that war workers of this plant can be counted on to increase production by extra effort and reduction of absenteeism after enjoying this brief rest following the strenuous schedule of production during the past months," Mr. Steinwedell said.

"We're certain there will be no decline in our overall output of critical material in the days ahead."

THE WAR TODAY

By I. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Substituting for DEWITT MACKENZIE
The speed of the Red advance through White Russia, with the capture of Minsk apparently only a few days away, supports previous reports that Hitler has withdrawn his major forces to shorter lines back in old Poland—possibly along the Bug river.

Points like Orsha and Mogilev don't fall overnight when the Germans really try to hold them, even before such great power as the Russians are displaying. The Berlin radio, broadcasting about an elastic defense in the east, without benefit of reserves until the allies have been taken care of in the west, also supports the thought, if that were true, no such broadcast would have been made.

For a year there have been reports from various sources that the Germans were preparing to stand at the Bug, the "Ribbentrop" border established in 1939, and that if driven back from there a last fight would be made along the Vistula.

This would not mean, of course, an uninterrupted Russian march over the 300 miles from their present central positions, or the 100 miles from their westernmost salient at Kowel, to Brest Litovsk.

But, as in Italy, the Germans probably are down to the point where little effort will be made to have territory which obviously cannot be held for long.

The comparative nearness of war's end must be as obvious to Hitler as to anyone. If he is to keep going "in the hope of some 'break', he must gather his weakened forces into a more compact area. The power behind the Russian offensive, the growing allied strength on the shore of France, pressure from the south with every sign that it will be extended, allied air superiority, all have dictated his only course.

Whether even this forced concentration will enable him to carry on through the fall and obtain another winter stalemate is open to question.

20 Nazi Oil Centers Knocked Out by Bombs

Rome, June 29—(AP)—At least 20 of 22 oil refineries attacked by Italy based allied bombers had been put out of service by mid-June, and Nazi oil reserves "are being used up at a faster rate than ever before," headquarters of the Mediterranean Allied Airforce announced today.

The announcement said that nearly 1,800 planes have dropped about 11,000 tons of bombs on Nazi oil facilities, including rail yards serving refineries. The production at Ploesti, which has been the source of 35 per cent of German supplies, was said to have been cut to very low levels.

"More than half the German synthetic oil production has been knocked out by attacks of the Eighth Airforce based in the United Kingdom," the announcement said. "So much damage has been done to oil plants, ranging almost from the Baltic to the Black Sea, that the enemy's stored reserves represent his main cushion against having his military machine brought to a grinding halt."

'Bit Mixed Up'

Dallas, Tex., June 29—(AP)—James A. Farley finds politics "bewildering" in Texas. "A bit mixed up" in his own home.

The former Democratic national committee chairman told a luncheon group yesterday that after talking to 100 Texans he still couldn't figure out the local political situation, and then he got a laugh by adding, "but politics in my own home is a bit mixed up."

This was a reference to a report that his wife had announced in Chicago that she didn't intend to vote for President Roosevelt for a fourth term.

Regardless of how his wife may feel Farley said he would remain in the Democratic party. "Now and in the future, I want to be helpful to my party, my city and country."

In an interview with a Dallas news reporter he would make no comment on the Republican presidential nominee, Thomas E. Dewey except to say he had been a good governor.

Nips Reap First Major Fruit of Drive to Divide China

By J. B. KRUEGER

Associated Press War Editor
Japanese troops hammering at Hengyang have captured the U. S. Air Force base there, thus reaping one of the first major fruits of their drive to slice China in two. It was partial recompense for the progressing American conquest of Saipan in the Pacific.

Chungking, conceding abandonment of the advance field, reported the vital Chinese city had burst into flames under the pressure of the greatest Japanese China offensive since 1938.

Loss of the base was a hard blow to the allies, and Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault's fleet quickly retaliated, dropping 1,000-pound bombs from their P-51s and knocking out one runway.

Hengyang, key point on the Hankow-Canton railway, is surrounded by the Red River, and Japan's presumed aim of bisecting the country along the rail line and blocking the allies out of coastal China.

Chennault's 14th Airforce threw all its weight into the Hengyang battle, but Chungking previously has acknowledged the Chinese ground defenders were in a critical position.

Furious Battle on Saipan

Twenty thousand Japanese battled with fury to stem American forces slowly wedging them into the northern neck of Saipan island.

Marines and infantrymen advancing up both coasts of Saipan got strong support from U. S. naval and air forces which struck at the Kailash north of Japan, at the Marianas and the Carolines. Among the specific targets were Guam, Rota, Paramushiro, Shumushu, Tinian and Truk. Enemy air attacks against American warships and transports utterly failed. Adm. Nimitz announced in outlining the Western Pacific situation through June 26.

Inch Into Garapan

The foot soldiers inched into Garapan, Saipan's capital, blasting out the defenders street by street. They moved two miles up the east coast through two villages Japanese trying to break out of Nafutan peninsula trapped were moved down, 200 dying in the vain effort.

Admittedly the Saipan fighting was as rough as anything yet encountered in the Pacific.

A second trap was closing on thousands of Nip troops falling back on Wewak, New Guinea coastal base. Australians advanced 80 miles in 23 days from the southeast and another allied force pushed down from Aitape from the north. The gap between the forces is 15 miles. In their advance the Aussies took Hansa Bay, once chief enemy coastal base. A great amount of supplies were seized there.

Chinese advanced six miles from captured Mogauing toward Myitkyina, besieged North Burma city.

All Japanese west of the Kohima-Imphal road in India have been eliminated, Southeast Asia headquarters announced.

Charge Mother With Neglect of Daughter

Mrs. Agnes Kreitzer of this city appeared before Judge Grover Gehant in Lee County court yesterday afternoon, following the filing of an information in which she was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor child, Barbara Kreitzer, aged 11.

The case was referred to in the Telegraph several days ago following an investigation conducted by County Investigator A. C. Handell, and a report filed with Judge Gehant.

The information charged that the woman's 11-year-old daughter, Barbara Kreitzer, was "permitted to frequent saloons in Dixon and wander about the streets, in addition alleged living conditions in the home were looked into by City Attorney Gerald Jones appeared for Mrs. Kreitzer and a continuance was taken until July 8, she being released upon her own bond of $1,000. At the conclusion of the hearing, it was agreed that temporary orders would be issued by Judge Gehant providing that better living conditions be arranged and proper parental restraint be required.

Service of G. I. Joe, Death of G. I. Jim in Fighting Dramatized

Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut is Star
in Stadium Speech

Chicago, June 29—(AP)—Clare Boothe Luce first woman invited to address a Republican national convention in half a century, wants Americans to "think as Americans" and send to the White House a man—who as she put it—loves his country more than he loves power.

Dressed with schoolgirl simplicity in dark blue with white gumpie, blonde braids framing her face, the slim politico-playwright orally dramatized Tuesday night the service "beyond price" of G. I. Joes and the deaths of "G. I. Jim".

Assailing what she termed Roosevelt administration promises "kept to their ears, but broken to their hearts", the freshman congresswoman from Connecticut declared Republicans must choose a president who would justify "G. I. Jim's death" and prove it not useless.

"Jim has taken the rap for everyone, from the man in the White House down to the man in the little house around the corner", she said. "And it was O. K. with him x x x if it gave good old Joe a fresh start on life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness in a world wiped clean of Nazi marauders and Japanese spoilers."

Democrats will be meeting here soon, she said, "not to choose a president, but to take Franklin Roosevelt and like it".

It was rare in the convention hall, Mrs. Luce said, to see a woman who was not wearing a pin denoting kinfolk in the war; this made it inevitable that she would speak of "G. I. Joe". It was up to the generals she said, to see that his present needs were cared for; to see that he had adequate supplies, training and leadership so he can win the war. The convention, she continued, had to consider his probable future wants.

First, she said, he wanted security for America as he had known it. And he wanted, in many instances, to avenge and justify the death of "G. I. Jim", the soldier friend who was "immobilized for all eternity". She referred to the mounting casualty lists and the variety of last names for the G. I. Jims—"the grandsons of many nations". Continuing, Mrs. Luce said:

"Son of United States"
"But he was the son of the United States of America. He was the defender of the Republic, and the lover of liberty. And he died as his father died in 1918, and their fathers in 1898, 1861, in 1816, and in 1812 and 1776. He died to make a more perfect union, that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

"His young bones bleach on the tropical roads of Bataan. A white cross marks his narrow grave on some Pacific Island. His dust dully the crimson of the roses that bloom in the ruins of an Italian village. The deserts of Africa, the jungles of Burma, the rice fields of China, the plains of Assam, the jagged hills of Attu, the cold depths of the seven seas, the very snows of the Arctic, are the richer for mingling with the mortal part of him. Today his blood flecks the foam of the waves that fall on the Normandy beachheads. He drops again and again amid the thunder of shells, while silently down on the tragic soil of France the white apple blossoms drift over him. Yes, even as it was in 1918. Or, nameless phrase, tantalizing and insubstantial as the misty black and bottomless pit of time, Jim is just missing in action. Then all that marks him anywhere is a gold star in the window, and the tears that are silently shed for him.

"There are many gold stars on the women sitting in these halls. To all who loved Jim, even more than to those who love Joe, everything we do and say here must be reasonable."

"We are come together here to nominate a President who will make sure that Jim's sacrifice shall not prove useless in the years that lie ahead."

"For a fighting man dies for the future as well as the past; to keep all that was fine of his country's yesterday, and to give it a chance for a finer tomorrow."

"Do we here in this convention dare ask if Jim's heroic death in battle was historically inevitable? If this war might not have been averted? We know that this war was in the making everywhere in the world after 1918. In the making here, too. Might not skillful and determined American statesmanship have helped to unmake it all through the 20's? Or, when it was clear to our government that it was too late to avert war, might not truthful and fearless leadership have prepared us better for it in material and in morale, in arms and in army? These are bitter questions. And the answers to bitter questions belong to time's perspective. Being human, we Republicans are partisan. But being partisan, we risk being unjust if we try to answer these questions in days so fateful. But this, even as partisans, we dare say: The last 12 years have not been Republican years. Maybe Republican Presidents during the 20's were over-confident that sanity would prevail abroad. But it was not a Republican President who dealt with the visibly rising menaces of Hitler and Mussolini and Hirohito.

Promises Also Lie Ahead
"Ours was not the administration that promised young Jim's mother and father and neighbors and friends economic security and peace. Yes, peace. No Republican President gave these promises which were kept to their ears, but broken to their hearts. For this terrible truth cannot be denied: These promises, which were given by a government that was elected again and again and again because it made them, he quite as dead as young Jim lies now. Jim was the heroic heir of the unheroic Roosevelt decade; a decade of confusion and conflict that ended in war."

Here Mrs. Luce presented an eloquent picture of what the dead would say if they could be present. Her belief, she said, was that they would urge us to look to the future rather than to the past. She drew a parallel between G. I. Jim and George Washington.

She recalled that the first President, regarded by his contemporaries as indispensable, refused a third term and established a tradition that endured until 1910. But even today, she asserted, Washington would be calm, knowing that only the people could destroy their own institutions.

Qualifications Outlined
She outlined the qualifications for a President: a man who "would rather tell the truth than be President" and love his country and its institutions more than he loves power; no indispensable man, but one who can raise a standard "to which the honest and the wise can repair." The close of her address was:

"It is us Americans that we are gathered here. We come to choose a President who need not apologize for the mistakes of the past, but who will redeem them, who need not explain G. I. Jim's death but who will justify it. Apology and explanation must suffice for the next convention that meets in this city."

"We Republicans are here to build a greater and freer America, not only for, but with the millions of young, triumphant, boastful G. I. Joes, who are fighting their way home to us."

Day By Day On the Air by C. E. BUTTERFIELD

(Central War Time)
New York, June 29—(AP)—Telecasts of the Republican convention supplied to the eastern area on a delayed basis by means of motion pictures and over a three-station network, gave an other example of what radio sight can do with a special event.

While the presentation was the best possible, since direct television relay facilities between Chicago and New York are not yet in existence, it did lack the spontaneity the radio audience has been educated to expect.

Transmissions were 12 to 21 hours behind the action. However, scenes of the convention, with accompanying sound, put together something like a newsreel, did give the viewer a fairly good glimpse of activity on the floor and speakers' rostrum.

After tonight's NBC broadcast at 10:30, the Match of Time will go off the air for a four-week vacation, to return August 3 under a contract extension expiring next June 28. Instead of the usual type of program, the finale will consist of a dramatization of the post-war future of returning servicemen.

Annual Grange Picnic
The annual Grange picnic was held Sunday afternoon at the Paw Paw school park. It was an ideal day, with the sun shining brightly and the cool breeze made it most comfortable for everyone. There were almost 200 Grange members and their families and guests on hand for this always pleasant day. The scrambled picnic dinner was served at 12:30 and there was a large variety of delicious foods to be enjoyed, with the cool drinks being furnished by Mrs. John Kaiser and Miss Mary Pfeiffer. After everyone had finished their dinner, a short but entertaining program was presented. The Ackland sisters opened the program by playing several lovely accented duets and then Lois Foster and the Ackland sisters sang the popular "Mairzy Doats". The Grange quartette, consisting of Charles Merriman, Frank Wiley, John Wiley and Avery Merriman, sang several ballads to close the program. Games and contests of all kinds were then enjoyed by the parents, while the youngsters competed in different races held, with all participants receiving an award. Also during the afternoon the Grange made plans for the ice cream social they are sponsoring Saturday evening, July 8, on the lawn of the Presbyterian church. Ice cream and cake will be served and a large attendance is desired. This was indeed one of the most successful picnics ever held by the Grange and everyone is looking forward to next year's Grange picnic celebration.

Scrambled Supper
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hoelzer entertained a large group of relatives at their home Friday evening in honor of the members of the Sewing club and their families. A scrambled picnic supper was served with all kinds of delicious foods to be enjoyed by those on hand. Following the supper the remainder of the evening was spent in visiting and the young people played various games in the yard. This was a gathering enjoyed by everyone and one that all will long remember.

Those present for the edifying occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tuttle and daughter Lois, Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bidstrop, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Marshall, Mrs. Lettie Sellers and Charles Sellers of Earlville, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Simpson and family of Leiland, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Simpson and son Larry of Shabbona, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Erlenbach and daughter Janice and son David, Joyce and Audrey Simpson of Paw Paw.

W. S. C. S.
The members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church met at the church Wednesday afternoon for their regular meeting. The business meeting was held with the president, Mrs. William Ramey, presiding. Mrs. Louise Valentine had charge of the devotionals and Mrs. Harrison Beemer gave the lesson from the study book. She chose "How Christianity is Carried to Americans" as her topic and it dealt mainly with the various Christian establishments organized throughout the United States. Mrs. Della Harper also gave a talk similar to Mrs. Beemer's and both proved to be most interesting. During the social time the hostesses, Mrs. Harry Davison, Mrs. Lewis Miller, Mrs. Myrtle Riseter and Mrs. Mary Hackman, served delicious refreshments. A pleasant afternoon was reported by everyone and all are looking forward to their next meeting which will be held July 19, at the church.

"HUMAN TORPEDO"
Britain's "human torpedo" has a blunt nose acting as a break-water protecting the crew of two. Powered by electric batteries, these craft dive under their targets, where the explosive charge mounted in the nose is detached and fixed to the enemy ship. Time fuses are then set, and the crew drives away.

Two Separate Jobs
God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him.—1 John 4:16.

O there is nothing holier, in this life of ours, than the first consciousness of love.—Longfellow.

A Thought for Today
Ship owners are asking congress for permission to go into the air transport field. They argue that British competitors are going to supplement their surface services with air schedules, and that Americans will be left at a great disadvantage unless they are permitted to do likewise.

It is easy to imagine that the ship owner would benefit from such a dual setup. But to the layman it seems improbable that joint ship-plane operation is the only solution, the best solution, or even a desirable solution to the really puzzling problem that faces our postwar merchant marine.

Without belittling the great importance of maintaining our hard-won position of primary importance on the high seas, it is vital also that we play a major part in the coming Air Age. And our share in world aviation surely cannot be protected best by turning its development over, in any considerable part, to a competing industry.

Transoceanic air lines are in direct competition with surface shipping. Before the war the competition was limited to luxury passenger and midjet packages. After the war, aviation experts hope, the planes will be able to go after passengers well below the luxury class, and to carry packages of greater bulk and weight.

Advancement in transoceanic aviation can be achieved economically, and made competitively self-supporting, only if postwar aviation is in the hands of experts whose fortunes and reputations are staked upon their achievements in that one field.

Neither railroads nor steamship lines would be given any major part in the development of aviation. Planes will compete directly with both, and American history has shown that such competition is the secret of greatest success.

HOT RECEPTION, COOL SENDOFF
Chicago—The Republican national convention and Chicago's hottest weather in two years ended simultaneously last night.

Just as the GOP sessions concluded, a cool mass of air advanced to Lake Michigan, bringing relief to thousands after the three hottest days of the year.

On the opening day of the convention the mercury hit 95 degrees above; on Tuesday it touched 100 for a new season high and the warmest day in two years, while yesterday temperatures were 98.

Today, with most Republicans homeward bound, an 80 degree reading was forecast.

God's Front Porch

A Novel By KETTI FRINGS

To Those Who Came In Late:
This is the story of what happened to Pinky Harrison after he was killed in a foxhole. The scene is Heavenly Bend Junction, half-way point between the Earth and Big Valley. Travelers stay here until they stop looking back to Earth.

RION waited a few moments, then slipped down the rear stairs, watched Emily from the side door. She walked up and down past the house, twice, then started off. He waited until she was well into the middle of the Square, hidden by the trees, then hurried after her.

He was blushing furiously. "Emily... excuse me—Miss Keenan!" "Well! One minute we don't speak at all. The next, it's by our first names."

"I couldn't help myself this morning."

"No, I know that." She decided not to be too hard on him, knew it was not his fault. She sighed. "Poor Rion... so tired of marching and gun-toting." Then she fixed him firmly with her eyes. "So the State is your god, even up here, too?"

"It's not funny, Emily."

"I think it is. It's odd I missed the secret edition of Mein Kampf."

"Is there one?"

"There must be, with a chapter on Lebensraum in heaven!"

Her mockery upset him, and he looked down at his boots. A hard pion greater social security, for instance, and more state medical aid instead of the new deal's socialized medicine.

On international affairs, I expect him to be neither internationalist nor isolationist. I think his goal is "realism," realism in regard to Russia, to the rise of Communism in European leadership, in regard to British empire trade necessities, considering the developments which will arise in connection with a world organization.

On the surface of the platform adopted and Dewey's international declarations, there appears to be Democratic-Republican unity on foreign policy, but this is only a mutual acceptance of democratic principles (sovereignty, etc.). There will be a break between Roosevelt and Dewey on these matters when the administration starts applying these principles in action. I doubt if Dewey will consider them in accord with the formula.

His labor stand will likewise surprise you. The CIO Political Action crowd has made the front pages look like Dewey is anti-labor. Fact is he has gotten along well with union labor in New York state. What he did not get along with was the radical element in and out of labor.

Now the radicals peculiarly in this campaign are idealistically in the same boat as reactionaries, including the international bankers. Both the leftists and conservatives wanted "one world," or "union now," a world state, a quart of milk a day, etc. Between these two is a great portion of labor and also the average citizen. The American Federation of Labor, for instance, is ideologically just about where I expect Dewey will wind up on labor (strongly anti-Communist).

On the other issues in the head of the man in the street, although these are not really issues, except as politicians have made political footholds of them, I have heard a New York Republican leader claim Dewey will get million Jewish votes in New York City and much intellectual negro support.

He has a nucleus of a worlding organization ready to start. His advisers generally have long been chosen are in the crowd around him now.

It is possible they may become too clamorous as the campaign develops, and too lawless but they will have to rely on nearly all the states, on the local Republican organizations (he has no state political leaders of his own) and this no doubt will prevent his men from becoming too independent.

I expect he will storm the country, probably make more speeches than usual. He will let the country know him as New York knows him.

The earth, about 8000 miles in diameter, casts a shadow almost a million miles into space.

Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin each have a village named Honey Creek.

"You'll sit by me?" he asked nervously.

"Sure—but there'll be other Germans there."

He was still hesitant: "Older ones..."

She smiled: "Don't worry... they understand about you younger ones."

"I wonder... when sometimes I don't understand myself." He looked somberly into her eyes. "Goodbye, Emily."

AS she watched him walk away from her, a strange feeling passed through her. Somehow she understood his loneliness, for wasn't she, in a way, lonely herself? What was she staying here for anyway? Why wasn't she ready to go on to Big Valley? She had no dear ones to look back on. Mrs. Johnson and Betty Allerton, they had their husbands; and Pinky, his wife. Everybody had somebody...

...but she had always denied family and personal ties. The world had been her family. She had made it her life, her work, her children, everything. She had been proud about it. She had said once, "Even as a child, what the man in the White House said was always more important to me than my father's sniveling remarks about the weather!" She had written a school theme on world politics when she was twelve.

She had spent her life trying to understand the world. Rion had spent his trying to conquer it. Somewhere along the way they had both missed. She knew that now... for as he walked away from her, she saw in his walk and in the way he held his head and in the way his arms moved, the indecipherable outline of a figure and a personality which might have meant much to her. Perhaps then, this was what she had stayed here for.

Fair Enough

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

Up in Hartford, Conn., on Thanksgiving Day 1901, a brash and uppity fighter from Denver, known as Young Corbett, paused on his way to the ring for his bout with Terrible Terry McGovern, the featherweight champion whose awesome reputation had intimidated some of his earlier opponents, and beat on the door of Terry's dressing-room. He was going first to the arena out of respect for protocol which permits the champion to keep the challenger waiting and, if possible, brooding.

"Come on out, Terry," Young Corbett yelled, "and take your licking."

Whether from fear or rage, McGovern lost his poise and the upstart knocked him out in two rounds.

At the moment, Tom Dewey is on his way to the ring. Roosevelt has had three fights since he was first nominated for the presidency in the spring of 1922 and has won them all, but two of his victims were pop-overs and the third a big, clumsy, headstrong novice who licked himself by talking too much, knowing it all and ignoring the advice and wisdom of his handlers.

Herbert Hoover was a defending champion who, in the ring, would have been called a hollow shell. He looked and felt beaten before the bell and his defeat was so popular that he had to carry his own bucket back to his room. And the new champion was so cocky and prideful in victory that you might have thought he had knocked a Dempsey right through the skylight. Actually, he won mostly on the issue of repeal which he had lacked the courage to demand when the issue was dangerous. It was Al Smith who fought the prohibitionists and softened them up for his friend.

Hoover was afraid of repeal and would only mumble miserably about an experiment noble in purpose for he hadn't the political instinct to sense, as Roosevelt did, that popular sentiment had changed. So Hoover was knocked out by a flurry of heavy promises to the face and body. Roosevelt promised light wine and beer, promised that the old saloon would never return with its attendant evils, promised an end to the wasteful Hoover regime which had piled "bureau on bureau," and promised a balanced budget and ruthless curtailment of government spending through sharp economies. But Hoover was an Al McCoy, or worse champion, at best.

In 1936, Alf Landon was a sacrifice. The Republicans had nobody ready but had to represent themselves to keep their identity and a skeleton organization. Landon was expendable. He was comparable to a small-town fighter who has been working stag-nights for the Elks and Moose and has become a tri-county champion. The big fellow moved him around at will, waved to the crowd, and, when he was ready, knocked Landon into the bass drum. It was what they call in the ring a tune-up fight. The champion needed a little work to get the belly off him.

The 1940 thing was a rougher contest than the champion had expected. Willkie was a great, sweaty, shaggy lump who violated all the rules, led with his right, threw horrible swings which left him wide open but raised a wind as they whistled past and showed enormous strength like Firpo. The trouble with the big clown was that, right there in the ring, against the champion, in a fight for the title, he developed a sudden admiration for the champion's style and tried to adopt it. He promptly adopted a slippery master who had invented and practised those tricks to perfection. Toward the end, therefore, when Roosevelt had studied him out, the champion could anticipate him and the customers saw an amazing illusion as the champion fighting his own image in a big mirror. As time went on, the clientele had no great regret for they reckoned that even had the challenger won they would have had for a new champion only an imitation of the old one.

Is this new young fellow any good? Can he punch? Is he fast? Is he smart? Is he game?

He is as good an orator as Roosevelt ever was and without the corny and patronizing familiarity or the Groton accent. When he speaks of the working man he speaks with the sand-lot knowledge of a kid from Owosso, Mich., who never had a nurse-governess and bought his own furniture with his own earnings when he got married. He showed his punch when he outfought Lehman for the governorship of New York and lost by a phoney decision delivered through the American Labor Party which had been organized to contain the Communist and other European vote and which is now frankly President Roosevelt's new Communist party.

Next time around, the kid flattened the Democratic nominee for governor and, in these contests,

Editorial Comment on GOP Gathering

New York Daily News (Ind)—"Dewey's nomination looked like the logical one for a long time. He is young (42), courageous, a tremendous worker, constructive in outlook. Over and above these qualifications x x x Dewey has been a consistent and powerful vote getter x x x."

"Mr. Bricker x x x has been an especially good governor with reference to economy in government—a commodity which will most likely be in desperate demand after this unprecedentedly expensive war x x x."

New York Times (Ind-Dem)—"No other Republican candidate for the presidency in our times has had so great an opportunity for public service as Mr. Dewey. Nominated at the very moment when the decisive battles of this total war are being fought, he is in a position to give his party leadership which will strengthen the whole country for the ordeals that lie ahead and give the world fresh proof of the soundness of our faith in the processes of democratic government."

"In Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio the Republican party has nominated x x x an experienced and successful state executive. The contradictions in the platform are clearly apparent. Throughout there runs a condemnation of centralization of power in Washington and an insistence on 'elimination excessive regulation'. Yet again and again the platform promises policies which can only mean a continuance of excessive regulation."

Chicago Tribune (Independent)—"Gov. Dewey was obviously the choice of the Republican voters this year just as he was four years ago. This time the convention chose the man the people really wanted. They recognize in him a youthful, energetic, capable man who can make a strong campaign. He is Roosevelt's equal on the radio. He will have the cordial support of all the influential newspapers. He has the courage and capacity to attack and dissolve the new deal conspiracy, that is rapidly bringing us to ruin. x x x Gov. Bricker's tank discussion of the campaign issues, his unquestioned patriotism and dedication to the interests of Americans, have won him the confidence of millions of voters."

Kansas City Star (Independent Republican)—"The convention took him (Dewey) because the people back home wanted him, and the people back home wanted him because they believed he was competent and stood for the fundamentals they believed in. In the campaign it will be the governor's job to convince the country that the voters who insisted on his nomination were right."

Philadelphia Inquirer (Ind)—"It is a strong ticket. The governor of New York and the governor of Ohio, standing upon a sturdy party platform, form an admirable team for the great task of freeing the American people from the bureaucratic bogs of the new deal. x x x

Candidate Dewey Keeps His Eye On Ball at All Times

Chicago, June 29—(AP)—He's the father of two young sons, likes to visit with neighbors, admires his wife's "good house sense," is an inveterate golfer, is an Episcopalian but doesn't always attend Sunday service, and has realized an ambition to "own a little farm."

He isn't a candidate for designation as the typical American father of 1911. He's the candidate of the Republican party for president of the United States.

Thomas E. Dewey, at 42 governor of New York, got that way by heeding advice such as any college

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisons—a waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Letter Carriers and Ladies' Aux. Picnic at Lowell

The Lee county Rural Letter Carriers' association and the Ladies' auxiliary held a meeting at Lowell park Tuesday evening with a pot luck supper being served at 6:30 o'clock. A meeting of each group followed, and officers were elected and delegates chosen for the state convention that is to be held at Springfield in July. The carriers were glad to welcome into their association as new members, Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Eiselle and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sennoff.

Resolutions were adopted to be sent to the national convention to be considered by the post office, one especially being outstanding. Whereas in the past year, many rural carriers have been refused or otherwise unable to get proper consideration from the gas ration boards in many of the states, and in this state in some instances, in regard to sufficient gas to serve their mail routes.

The association supported a resolution asking that the ruling of 15 miles to the gallon of gas be removed because the average rural carrier has on an average about eight stops to the mile, and as road conditions vary on all routes, they will ask that a careful survey be made.

Mrs. Leona Jordan of Dixon was elected president of the Ladies' auxiliary; Mrs. Merile Pine of Lee is the new vice president, and Mrs. C. A. Watson of Franklin Grove, secretary. President of the Rural Letter Carriers is Thomas L. Jordan of Dixon; vice president, Merile Pine of Lee, and secretary-treasurer, Emil Bernadine of Compton.

Mrs. Dewey Sits at One Side, Listens

By EDITH GAYLORD
Chicago, June 29—(AP)—Her brown eyes aglow, petite and pretty Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey stood with her husband on the klieg-lighted platform while he received thunderous ovations last night. Then, as is her custom, the wife of New York's governor went to sit quietly to one side and watch and listen to her husband with unflagging attention. Her smile beamed above the white orchids pinned to her sheer black frock. Her only other ornament was a double strand of pearls.

This was a far greater show than the Texas-born Frances Eileen Hutt of Sapulpa, Okla., ever dreamed of when, as a chorus girl and music student in New York City, she met and married young Tom Dewey, voice student and struggling lawyer from Owosso, Mich.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Hutt, joined their son-in-law's mother, Mrs. George M. Dewey, at Chicago's bunting-hung stadium to witness Dewey's acceptance of the presidential nomination.

Wraps Taken Off New Army Weapon

Eric Proving Grounds, Lacarne, O., June 29—(AP)—Capable of out-reaching the highest-flying bombers, a new anti-aircraft giant is being used by the United States Army to clear the skies of enemy planes.

Army Ordnance experts at this Lake Erie testing grounds today took the wraps from the 120 millimeter anti-aircraft cannon, bigger by far than any other similar armament known.

Newsman saw a demonstration of the 30-ton mobile monster, with a potential firing rate of 12 shells a minute. Newest feature of the mogul is an automatic rammer, which sets a 50-pound shell in the breech, adjusts its fuse and ramms home a semi-fixed charge of powder.

Assembled in Grand Rapids, Mich., the gun costs more than $100,000 per unit. Described by one officer as "a box of brains and 19 strong backs," because of its highly secret control mechanism and a crew of 19, the gun has been in combat, although no details are available on its performance. Col. F. E. Rundell, commander of the proving grounds, said.

Biggest Army anti-aircraft weapon previously used was a 90 millimeter gun which sent a projectile less than half the size of that fired in the new unit to a height of about 35,000 feet.

Lanier Works Six Innings, is Charged With Two Defeats

Nicholson Stars as Cubs Slap Bums Twice, 12-6; 6-2

By JACK HAN

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

War relief picked up an estimated $50,000 today from the first four major league fund games but pitcher Max Lanier, of the St. Louis Cardinals just picked up two defeats.

Lanier worked only six and two thirds innings last night but he was beaten by the Phillies, 4-0 and charged with another 6-2 defeat in a continuation of a May 16 "suspended" game.

The largest crowd of the St. Louis season, 21,782, turned out for the novel doubleheader. Ken Raffensberger spoiled their fun with a neat four-hit job in the regulation game after Charley Schanz picked up where he had left off in the "suspended" tilt to notch his sixth victory.

Bill Nicholson continued his mid-season rush toward the home run and runs batted in leadership by smashing his 13th and 14th circuit clouts and driving in five runs as Chicago whipped Brooklyn twice, 12-6 and 6-2 before 16,332 who paid $15,887.99 into the war fund. Bob Chipman and Hank Wyse were the winners over Whit Wyatt and Hal Gregg.

The Pittsburgh Pirates downed the New York Giants, 9-2. Dain Clay's 10th inning single in the opener and Estel Crabtree, pinch single in the nightcap gave Cincinnati a double dealer win over Boston, 4-3 and 3-2 behind Jim Konstanty and Arnold Carter.

The Yankee Stadium "jinx" struck down the St. Louis Browns who bowed before Atley Donald's talented curving, 7-2. Bob Muncrief's six-game win streak was snapped by the New Yorkers.

Don Black kept Philadelphia out of the American league cellar by scattering eight hits for win No. 5 by a 7-3 margin over Cleveland. Washington's Niggeling turned back Detroit, 4-1, with three scratchy hits to dump the Tigers into seventh place.

Manager Joe Cronin's seventh inning double ended Boston a 4-3 twilight edge over Chicago, giving Joe Bowman his sixth win and Orval Grove his sixth setback.

Yankee Maid Favorite For Hambletonian

Cleveland, June 29 (AP)—Yankee Maid's position as the Hambletonian future book favorite was stronger than ever today after A. L. Derby's smoothly-stepping daughter of Volomite topped the parade yesterday in the $3,856 Matron Stake at North Randall.

The three-year-old trotter showed her hoofs to five other candidates for the $50,000 classic at Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 9. She won by a length and one-half in the opening mile heat and coasted through by three lengths and a half in the final whirl. Indian Land was second twice.

Yankee Maid was the fastest two-year-old trotter of 1943 with a mark of 2:01 established at Lexington, Ky. The bay maid moved around the Randall oval yesterday in times of 2:06 1/2 and 2:05.

SPORTS ROUND-UPS

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 29 (AP)—Ed McKeever, Notre Dame's newest football coach who is visiting here, tells how a kid from Vandergrift, Pa., wrote Frank Leahy a couple of years ago enclosing a sketch of Leahy he had drawn and asking for an autograph. Frank sent it, expressed the hope that the kid would some day realize his ambition to attend Notre Dame and forgot all about it. During spring drill this year McKeever, badly in need of a passer, tried almost everyone on the squad before he discovered that freshman Joe Gasparella listed as a center, really could throw that hoghide. Looking into the athletic department files to find Gasparella's background, McKeever found only the sketch of Leahy and Joe's letter.

IRISH INTELLIGENCE
Pat Filley, the '43 captain, likely will be back to lead the Notre Dame next fall unless the operation he underwent last week fixes up his trick knees so that the armed forces will accept him. Pat recently was handed a medical discharge from the Marines. Bob Kelly, a good runner and the only capable receiver of Gasparella's passes, only will be available for five games. McKeever really is "high" on the Gasparella kid, who is 6 feet 4 inches, weighs 205 and won't be 18 until next February. Bernie Crimmins and Paul Lillis, who played side by side in the Irish line a few years ago, are in the same P-T boat outfit with Yale's Larry Kelley in the South Pacific.

SHORTS AND SHELLS
Who's this story that the Phillies are wooing Buckey Harris again because Freddie Fitzsimmons is squabbling with his players? Minneapolis report is that Mike Kelley, one of the founders of the American Association, won't field a team next year if the European war continues. Although Babe Didrikson Zaharias inquired several months ago about becoming a tennis amateur, she failed to file an application, which wouldn't be acted upon for a year, anyway.

Britain Not Enthused Over Republican Meet
London, June 29 (AP)—War news kept stories of the Republican convention in Chicago on the inside pages of British newspapers today and the average Briton showed only mild interest in the nomination of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for the presidency.

Although the papers gave full reports they were more or less routine and British correspondents generally expressed the opinion in their stories that the convention was apathetic.

Only the London News-Chronicle carried an editorial on the subject, saying, "the platform commits the party to participation in some form of world organization. Admittedly its terms are somewhat woolly—all the same, this is a very different state of affairs from that which existed in 1920."

The 'Daily Mail's New York correspondent wrote, "It may be stated frankly that the Republican convention does not seem too confident of its chances of defeating the Democrats."

Former U. of I. Grid Star Dies in Action
Champaign, Ill., June 29 (AP)—Lieut. (jg) Jim McDonald, 26, 1933 former University of Illinois football captain and center was killed in action June 27 in the South Pacific, the Navy yesterday informed his mother, Mrs. Lillian McDonald Foster, Arcola, Ill., and his widow, Mrs. Virginia Ellen McDonald of Chicago.

The Navy did not disclose how McDonald met his death. He entered the service in the spring of 1942.

All-state tackle and captain at Champaign high school in 1931, McDonald was shifted to center by Illinois coach Bob Zuppke. He was captain in 1938.

He was a member of the College All-Stars team which played the New York Giants in the All-Star game of 1939, and also played in the East-West grid game in 1939.

M'Spadden Cards 29 on First Nine Holes at Chicago Meet

Chicago, June 29 (AP)—Golf's blue plate special—a team affair with more combinations than a slot machine—continued today at the old Edgewater playground, where club members still were agog over the 29 Jug McSpadden carved from the first nine.

A carnival atmosphere prevailed—even to the extent of using handy-talkies to broadcast scores back to the club house from out on the course—as mixed foursomes of pros, amateurs, women and seniors teed off on the final lap of their team tournament.

The meet will become less involved tomorrow when a hand picked field begins a 72-hole grind for the Chicago Victory National championship.

Meanwhile, there are pro-amateur, pro-woman and pro-senior titles to be awarded.

McSpadden, who leads the money circuit with purses of $15,100 after dominating the winter tour, scored a 29-35-61 yesterday, equaling the course record. Par is 35-36-71. Eighteen pros and two amateurs matched or bettered those figures in the limbering up exercises for the main tournament.

Melted Par
No one could remember—including Ed Dudley, president of the PGA—of any player ever before shooting as low as a 29 for nine holes in major competition. McSpadden melted, par with his putter, bagging an eagle 3 on the 493-yard fifth, and then firing birdies on the 7th, 8th and 9th with putts ranging from 10 to 15 feet.

His partners also came through. Dorothy Germain posted a 77, best score among the women, while amateur Don Armstrong of Aurora, Ill., and senior Arnold Minkley of Chicago fashioned 75's. The combination of scores gave McSpadden-Germain and McSpadden-Minkley the pro-woman and pro-senior lead.

The pro-amateur lead was held by the 1943 winning team, Sam Byrd, who had a 70, and Bob Cochran of St. Louis, who led the simon pures with a 68—a 138 total. McSpadden and Armstrong were second with 139.

Other scores yesterday indicated the par-wrecking frolic in store before the meet is finished Sunday. Lieut. Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Tex., and Johnny Revolta had 67's, Ky Laffoon, Jimmy Hines and Byron Nelson, 68's, and Willie Coggin and Pvt. Chick Harbert of Chicago, 69's.

Sampson, Likas Tangle For NCAA Tennis Crown
Evanston, Ill., June 29 (AP)—Charlie Sampson, sole tourney survivor of Notre Dame's team that finished the regular season undefeated, will try to salvage some prestige for the Irish today when he tackles Harry Likas of Gonzaga in the first semi-final match of the N. C. A. A. Tennis championships at Northwestern university.

Two quarter-finals doubles matches, interrupted by rain yesterday, also are scheduled today. One pits Frank Willett and Howard McCall of Georgia Tech against Nick Buzolich and Gary Ruby of Pepperdine college, while the other pairs off Sampson and Jerry Evert of Notre Dame against George Druliner and Arnold Beisser of College of the Pacific.

Sampson emerged from the singles quarter-finals yesterday with a 6-2, 6-3 triumph over McCall. Defending champion Francisco (Pancho) Segura of Ecuador and the University of Miami will meet Willett tomorrow in the other singles semi-finals.

ANDERSSON WINS
Stockholm, June 29 (AP)—Arne Andersson, who smashed a lot of Gunder Haegg's world records while Haegg was in America last summer, now can boast his first victory over his famous countryman. They met for the first time in two years yesterday and Andersson won a 1500 meter duel in 3:48.8, nearly four seconds slower than his own world mark. Haegg's time was 3:50.2. Andersson indicated that muggy weather had prevented breaking his record of 3:45.

Sticks to Guns

Beloit, Wis., June 29 (AP)—The action of a Rock county farmer, Grant Ritter, in preventing an otherwise unanimous selection of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as the Republican presidential nominee came as no surprise to his wife and his fellow members of the Rock county board.

"I'm not surprised," said Mrs. Ritter. "He's always been a stickler for the law. Once he makes up his mind he won't change it."

Members of the board declared that Ritter was a jolly, well-liked farmer who never was unreasonable in his dealings but if he believed in a principle he "stuck to his guns."

Ritter, a delegate to the convention pledged to General Douglas MacArthur, refused to yield to pleas of fellow Wisconsinites yesterday that he join them in a solid vote for Dewey.

"I stood for MacArthur," was Ritter's only remark. "He's still my candidate. We didn't have an opportunity to present him."

Ritter and his two sons operate a 220 acre dairy farm about eight miles from Beloit.

Minnesotan Wins NCAA Golf Championship
Toledo, O., June 29 (AP)—The University of Minnesota, beaten out of the National Intercollegiate golf team title by only a stroke, today held the individual championship.

Louis Lick, slender 20-year-old lad from St. Paul, took the individual crown to Minnesota yesterday for the first time with a 1 up victory over Johnny Jenswold, 21-year-old naval trainee from the University of Michigan. Notre Dame won the team title earlier in the week.

Lick had a three hole advantage over the Big Ten champion with only four holes to go yesterday but Jenswold, a Duluth, Minn., native, rallied to win two in a row. Lick had a chance to win on the seventeenth but he blew a three foot putt and the match went to the home hole before he squeezed in a triumph.

Lick had a 76, five over par; Jenswold a 77.

Methodists of Rock - River Group Give to World Service Fund
Spurred by requests from Bishop J. Ralph Magee for increased funds to support worldwide missionary and educational work during the war emergency, Methodists of the Rock River Conference contributed $120,014 to the denomination's World Service fund during the fiscal year ended May 31.

The total represented a gain of $15,701, or 15 per cent, over last year, reported the Rev. Dr. O. W. Auman, treasurer of the Methodist General Commission on World Service and Finance. Contributions of the three annual conferences comprising the Chicago area totaled $307,536, an increase of 11.4 per cent.

The nearly 8,000,000 Methodists of the nation gave $5,439,296 to the World Service fund during the year just closed, an increase of $600,600, or 12.4 per cent, over 1943. This gain made possible the goal of a 25 per cent increase in regular missionary giving over 1942, before war emergencies arose.

In addition to World Service contributions, Methodists also have given $1,518,480 during the two years for strictly war emergencies.

Nye Gains on Lead Held by Stambaugh

Fargo, N. D., June 29 (AP)—Gerald P. Nye, Republican U. S. Senator from North Dakota since 1925, seeking renomination, today continued to overtake the lead held by his anti-isolationist opponent, Lynn U. Stambaugh, former national American Legion Commander.

Belated returns from outlying precincts in North Dakota's Tuesday primary helped Nye reduce the margin held by Stambaugh from the start of tabulations.

Stambaugh, a Fargo attorney and ardent advocate of U. S. participation in world affairs, had held a lead of 2,500 votes but with 1,517 of the state's 2,251 precincts reported today, Nye slashed the lead to 626. Congressman Usher L. Burdick, also seeking the nomination, was third.

The vote from 1,517 precincts gave: Burdick 30,353; Nye 34,063; Stambaugh 34,689.

Thimble Club Meeting
The North of Town Thimble club met on Wednesday with Mrs. Mildred Pitzer, with Edith Pitzer assisting hostess. There were 45 present, including children and a number of guests. Studebakers Here
Rev. and Mrs. Paul Studebaker, son George and daughter Gwendolyn, were Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Buck, together with Mr. and Mrs. Evan Kinsley, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buck, and their two children. Rev. Mr. Studebaker preached in the Brethren church on Sunday morning, and former friends were glad to greet him and his family.
The Studebaker family, now of Modesto, Calif., are among former residents of the community whom everyone is always glad to see. Mr. Studebaker was pastor of the Church of the Brethren here, and his wife besides being active in the work of the church, was the president of the local W. C. T. U., and an efficient worker in the interests of that organization. The family has recently been in attendance at the annual conference of the Church of the Brethren, held at Huntingdon, Pa., and stopped off to greet old friends here.

On Monday evening about 100 of Roy's old friends gathered to give him and his bride of about two months a good old-fashioned charivari which was no doubt enjoyed by all.

DETAIL FOR TODAY
Monkey Drill

Calisthenics in the Navy is called MONKEY DRILL because while doing the exercises you sometimes resemble a monkey. These MONKEY DRILLS, held before morning chow, may be good for your health, but they are bad for your morale. Imagine getting out of bed, still half asleep, running for a half mile, bending up and down a dozen times, falling on the ground and lifting yourself up 10 or 15 times and then bending backwards as far as you can. When the drill is over every muscle in your body has moved in at least four different directions. You can't feel right until you get a good night's sleep and then it's time for MONKEY DRILL again.
